Customer Reviews

I teach preschool (3-5) years. My kids found this series very interesting and liked the pictures. Real photographs with real people and objects are great for children's books, opposed to illustrations or animals representing people.

this is a good book for elementary children who need to learn about the senses for their science classes. I think this book is for ages between 5 and 8. This book was very helpful to my son who had a science project about the sense of touch

Great
